

PLAYER HANDOUT — THE OLD JSS

RECOVERED FILE // CIRCULATION IS A CRIME UNDER THE ZERO ASCENDANCY POLICY

Before A.E.G.I.S. controlled the stars, there were heroes who acted without permission. The greatest of them were known as the Justice Society of Sovereigns, often shortened to the JSS.

They were protectors, symbols, rebels, celebrities, soldiers, monsters to some, saviors to others. A.E.G.I.S. teaches that the JSS became too dangerous and had to be stopped. Older people, hidden communities, and outlaw heroes tell a different story.

Known Member	What Is Remembered
Sovereign	Leader of the JSS and symbol of old-fashioned heroism. A.E.G.I.S. claimed he was defeated, but rumors say the truth was never that simple.
Boom	The people's hero. Loud, fearless, and impossible to ignore. Carried The People's Line and died in a battle broadcast across the galaxies.
Athena	Kurathi warrior and strategist. Known for discipline, control, and battlefield precision.
Clockwork Angel	The original Clockwork Angel. A protector, healer, and stabilizer many modern heroes still respect. Her daughter carries the name today.
Battle Brute / Lunar Fang	Warg of the Shadow Call lineage. His mutation let him duplicate himself into a one-man army.
Thought	Mysterious member of extreme speed and mind, whose role in the fall remains surrounded by rumor and contradiction.
Mastermind	Strongest psychic ever recorded, and a practitioner of Aethercraft. Sarcastic, brilliant, and infamous for appearing uninvited.
SunBurst	Brighton bound to a battle mech. Fast, bright, sarcastic, and beloved for radiant whips and constant quips.
Mercy	The youngest: a pacifist healer who refused to harm anyone, and trained only to protect, restrain, and survive.
Atomica	Quantum-powered hero whose power reached below the atom itself. Lost when the team fell.

Whoever passed you this file broke the law to do it. Decide for yourself why they thought it was worth it.